

Kelly Garrett was born and raised in Columbus Ohio. She comes from a large Irish Catholic family. She is very close with her family, so they were quite shocked when she told them she wanted to go to college at the University of Montana. Although it was hard to let her go, her family supported her in her move across country.

Kelly graduated from the U of M in 2007. Kelly feels blessed to spending her second year of teaching at St. Joseph school. She taught fourth grade last year at St. Joes and has now moved up to sixth grade. The Transition has been interesting and very excited.
